

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A relatively economical process allows producing sintered shaped parts, such as sliding sleeves in motor vehicle transmissions. Open-pored undercut surfaces are formed at an 5 internal toothing by hypocycloid milling of the part prior to its final hardening.

WHS:kf - SB-517F//10/8/2003